WANARN CLINIC
WANARN COMMUNITY, AUSTRALIA

Wanarn Clinic is a health care facility located within the Wanarn Community, servicing more than 1,000 people in the region. It operates under the structure of a health service, funded by the Australian Government.

THE PROJECT

Wanarn Clinic is a response to the need for healthcare facilities in remote Indigenous communities. The clinic was designed to provide primary health care services to the local community, addressing various health issues prevalent in remote areas.

THE BENEFITS

- Improved access to healthcare services for the community.
- Enhanced health outcomes for the residents.
- Increased community engagement in health initiatives.

THE PROFESSIONAL

- Partner: Central Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Service
- Project Manager: Nick Porter
- Landscape Architect: Rob Kershaw

FUNDERS:

- Australian Government
- Department of Health

RELATED PROJECTS:

- Australian Regional Health Facilities
- Central Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Service

PROJECT TEAM:

- Nick Porter, Project Manager
- Rob Kershaw, Landscape Architect
- Central Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Service

SDGs CONSIDERED:

- 3, 5, 8, 10, 11